

Wonder What a Father Thinks About When One Is Calling on His Daughter

By BRIGGS

(Copyright, 1919, New York Tribune Inc.)

GEE WHIZ THERE'S THAT CHAP TO SEE MABEL AGAIN. I FAIL TO SEE WHAT SHE SEES IN HIM

I NEVER DID GET A GOOD SQUINT AT HIM. NICE LOOKING ENOUGH BUT PROBABLY DOESN'T KNOW ANYTHING

I'LL PRETEND TO BE IGNORANT OF HIS PRESENCE - HE'S ILL AT EASE - I SUPPOSE BECAUSE I'M HERE - BUT I'M NOT GOING TO GET OUT

I'VE GOT A RIGHT TO SIT HERE IF I WANT TO - I CAN TELL BY THE WAY THEY ACT THEY WISH I'D GO TO BED - BUT I WON'T

I CAN'T TAKE A BIT OF SENSE OF MY READING - GEE WHIZ - HE'S GETTING FAMILIAR -

I NEVER FELT MORE UNWELCOME IN ALL MY LIFE - I SUPPOSE I MAY AS WELL GO TO BED - I'D OFFER HIM A CIGAR BUT HE'D THINK I WAS ENCOURAGING HIM.

I'M GOING TO BED. NO USE MY SITTING HERE - THEY KEEP LOOKING AT ME AND I KNOW THEY WISH I'D BEAT IT - OH WELL, I'M TIRED ANYWAY

GOOD NIGHT

Chaloner Got X-Faculty in Bloomingdale

Says Before He Went There He Could Only Write Check; Since Then He Has Written Many Books

Before John Armstrong Chaloner was committed to Bloomingdale the only thing he could write was a check. While there his subconscious instinct developed and led him to the discovery of his "X faculty" by means of which he could go into "Napoleonic trance." It was while in this state that the feats of his "graphic automatism" aided him in the production of the many works on psychology he has published.

Testimony to this effect was given yesterday by Mr. Chaloner when he took the witness stand in his $100,000 libel action against "The New York Evening Post" in the Federal District Court before Judge A. N. Hand. It was while under cross examination by Attorney Wherry for the newspaper that Chaloner was called on to explain his "X faculty." He told the court and jury of his research work in psychology, and held their interest throughout. Frequently the witness, by his humorous answers to the questions of Mr. Wherry, drew gales of laughter.

Story of His Early Life
Mr. Chaloner, in his direct examination, said he was a great grandson of John Jacob Astor, and was at one time the husband of Amelia Rives, now the Princess Troubetzkoy. He told of his early life, education and travels. In detail he told of his studies at Columbia, and how subsequently he had developed and utilized the water power at Roanoke Rapids, Virginia. This place was a barren waste, he said, and he had transformed it into a prosperous city of several thousand people. Mr. Chaloner has a $365,000 interest in the Standard Power Company of Roanoke Rapids and a controlling interest in the United States Industrial Company there.

"I had the misfortune," he said, "to have a quarrel with my brothers and sisters over the marriage to Amelia Rives. Because of the quarrel the coolness grew between the Rives and Chandler families, so that when I was married there was only one member of the Chandler family present."

At a meeting in the old Kensington Hotel, in New York, my brother Winthrop Chandler and I had a violent altercation, and he even went so far as to offer to strike me, his blood brother. That was in December, 1895.

The Insanity Proceedings
On February 13, 1897, Mr. Chaloner was committed to the New York State Hospital for the Insane, at Middletown. During his confinement Mr. White said: "For God's sake, come and take a change in the metropolitan whirl." "No, I came on," continued the witness, "and went to the Kensington Hotel. After I got there a doctor was introduced as Dr. Moses Starr, an oculist, and they told me he would be my much interested in the change in the color of my eyes, which was very blue. My eyes had been brown, and in Virginia they changed to gray and are now gray. The doctor, however, was misapprehending himself, and actually was a medical examiner in lunacy. To let me understand, gentlemen of the jury, what happened in the future I want to tell you that I have always been sane. I do not believe in spiritualism. I attribute this peculiar state of mind to subconsciousness. I was interested in the subject at college and made a special research in psychology. I went into a trance before Dr. Starr, and while I was in this state the doctor took down what I said and later changed that I had made these expressions while in a normal state, and on that charge I was sent to Bloomingdale.

"You're Crazy," Said Doctor

The next day, Mr. Chaloner said, the physician called and while he was in bed, said: "Get up and come with me; you're crazy."

"My subconscious instinct had tipped me off before that there would be a hold-up of this kind, and I was always armed," he continued. "I had a pistol under my pillow. I pulled this and pointed it at the middle button of Dr. Starr's vest, and then they admitted that I had the drop on them. I persuaded them to go away until the next day, when we were to talk the matter over calmly."

"The next day, however, Sylvester O'Sullivan, proprietor of the hotel, came to me and told me there were two detectives downstairs with a warrant for my arrest. They came up and said that Colonel Roosevelt, who was then Police Commissioner, had told them to treat me with consideration. I consented to go to the Grand Central Station, and to show how much restraint I was under I was allowed to go and purchase some cigars while they were getting the tickets. Then we went to Bloomingdale."

Mr. Chaloner then told of the life in Bloomingdale and led up to his escape on Thanksgiving eve, 1899.

First $10 in Four Years
"I had only $10 in my sock, as you would say," he continued, "but that was the first $10 I had seen in four years."

Mr. Curtis introduced in evidence a number of his client's books, including "Hell and the Infernal Comedy," "Jupiter Tonans," "Scorpio I and II," "The Hazard of the Die," and his legal treatise entitled "Chaloner on Lunacy."

After these books, which will be available for the jury during their deliberations, were introduced and marked, Mr. Curtis asked the witness to tell just what happened on the day that Chaloner struck him down with the ice tong, he was like a referee at a prize fight for his friend, Colonel Money, had come to his assistance and was fighting the man. While he was walking around, Guillard grabbed the hand in which he held the pistol, and in the struggle it was discharged, killing the farmer. He said he kept the pistol in the house as protection against invaders.

The cross examination will continue to-day.

Governor Signs Bill Increasing Teachers' Pay

In Memorandum He Says It Should Result in Filling Many Vacancies Caused by Higher Salaries Elsewhere

ALBANY, May 19.—Governor Smith to-night signed the bill increasing the pay of teachers throughout the State. It was one of the last measures he acted on before the close of the thirty-day bill period at midnight. He had been undecided up to the last minute. When he left New York yesterday it was thought he would veto it because of the cost, but he evidently was influenced by a conference to-day with Dr. John H. Finley, State Commissioner of Education, and Dr. Thomas E. Finegan, deputy commissioner.

"Fifty-three thousand school teachers are affected by the bill," said the Governor. This measure establishes the principle of equal pay for women, corrects present discriminations and increases the inadequate salary now paid to members of the teaching staff. It should result in filling the many vacancies in our schools which were caused by higher compensation in other fields of employment.

Training Schools Not Attended
"It has been certified to me by the State Department of Education that the training schools for teachers are not attended in a satisfactory manner, due to the fact that the salaries paid to school teachers fail to attract women to that important service. This presents a serious situation, and one that the State must deal with. If our common school system is to be maintained in the degree of efficiency that the greatness of the state suggests we must build for the future. By this bill we are attracting to the school service the best talent the state can secure."

"There has been much discussion in the public press as to the cost of this bill to the city of New York. It has been certified to me by State Commissioner of State Finley that the cost will be as follows: "First year, 1920, $1,612,000; second year, 1921, $5,700,000; third year, 1922, $9,450,000."

"There are two great functions the state performs for our people. One is the education of our children and the other is the preservation of health. General O'Ryan states that the intelligence of our soldiers contributed as much as any other one thing to the great success our armies achieved in the struggle for the freedom of civilization."

No One Counts Cost
"I have yet to meet the taxpayer who would admit that the education of our children should not be put above a mere matter of dollars and cents. The cost of this measure cannot be spoken of in the same terms as road improvements, canal construction and different other activities of the state, for which many millions have been appropriated. "The public schools must be adequately supported if they are to remain the bulwark of the nation, and their success is dependent upon the number and ability of our teachers."

Governor Smith also signed bills increasing the pay of employees in state armories and state hospitals, and the bills providing appropriations of approximately $1,600,000 for the purchase of the two toll bridges over the Hudson River at Albany and Troy.

Another rent bill was signed to-night. It permits an oral answer in summary proceedings to evict tenants. The measure will save the expense of retaining an attorney to draw a verified answer and will not interfere with the speedy trial of the issue, said the Governor.

The bills signed by the Governor to-night will bring the state appropriations this year up to more than $90,000,000.

year, 1921, $5,700,000; third year, 1922, $9,450,000.

"There are two great functions the state performs for our people. One is the education of our children and the other is the preservation of health. General O'Ryan states that the intelligence of our soldiers contributed as much as any other one thing to the great success our armies achieved in the struggle for the freedom of civilization."

No One Counts Cost
"I have yet to meet the taxpayer who would admit that the education of our children should not be put above a mere matter of dollars and cents. The cost of this measure cannot be spoken of in the same terms as road improvements, canal construction and different other activities of the state, for which many millions have been appropriated. "The public schools must be adequately supported if they are to remain the bulwark of the nation, and their success is dependent upon the number and ability of our teachers."

Governor Smith also signed bills increasing the pay of employees in state armories and state hospitals, and the bills providing appropriations of approximately $1,600,000 for the purchase of the two toll bridges over the Hudson River at Albany and Troy.

Another rent bill was signed to-night. It permits an oral answer in summary proceedings to evict tenants. The measure will save the expense of retaining an attorney to draw a verified answer and will not interfere with the speedy trial of the issue, said the Governor.

The bills signed by the Governor to-night will bring the state appropriations this year up to more than $90,000,000.

The body of Joseph Schiano, of 102 Hudson Avenue, Brooklyn, was found in the cellar of the house at 157 Hudson Avenue Court. It is brought by Elmer Erskine Porter, widow of Edward Erskine Porter, who was killed.

The Very Rev. Mr. Luke J. Evers yesterday celebrated the thirty-sixth anniversary of his ordination and the eighteenth of his appointment as chaplain to the Tomb.

The body of Joseph Schiano, of 102 Hudson Avenue, Brooklyn, was found in the cellar of the house at 157 Hudson Avenue Court. It is brought by Elmer Erskine Porter, widow of Edward Erskine Porter, who was killed.

year, 1921, $5,700,000; third year, 1922, $9,450,000.

"There are two great functions the state performs for our people. One is the education of our children and the other is the preservation of health. General O'Ryan states that the intelligence of our soldiers contributed as much as any other one thing to the great success our armies achieved in the struggle for the freedom of civilization."

No One Counts Cost
"I have yet to meet the taxpayer who would admit that the education of our children should not be put above a mere matter of dollars and cents. The cost of this measure cannot be spoken of in the same terms as road improvements, canal construction and different other activities of the state, for which many millions have been appropriated. "The public schools must be adequately supported if they are to remain the bulwark of the nation, and their success is dependent upon the number and ability of our teachers."

Governor Smith also signed bills increasing the pay of employees in state armories and state hospitals, and the bills providing appropriations of approximately $1,600,000 for the purchase of the two toll bridges over the Hudson River at Albany and Troy.

Another rent bill was signed to-night. It permits an oral answer in summary proceedings to evict tenants. The measure will save the expense of retaining an attorney to draw a verified answer and will not interfere with the speedy trial of the issue, said the Governor.

The bills signed by the Governor to-night will bring the state appropriations this year up to more than $90,000,000.

The body of Joseph Schiano, of 102 Hudson Avenue, Brooklyn, was found in the cellar of the house at 157 Hudson Avenue Court. It is brought by Elmer Erskine Porter, widow of Edward Erskine Porter, who was killed.

The Very Rev. Mr. Luke J. Evers yesterday celebrated the thirty-sixth anniversary of his ordination and the eighteenth of his appointment as chaplain to the Tomb.

The body of Joseph Schiano, of 102 Hudson Avenue, Brooklyn, was found in the cellar of the house at 157 Hudson Avenue Court. It is brought by Elmer Erskine Porter, widow of Edward Erskine Porter, who was killed.

JOHN WANAMAKER

JOHN WANAMAKER 1861

COMBINED IN NEW YORK 1896

A. T. STEWART 1823

New York, May 20, 1919.

Good morning!

The weather today will probably be rainy.

Victory Bonds and Victory Birds

(Termed Airplanes)

Arrived on Time

Both of them in the month of May, 1919, have safely and successfully swung themselves across the ocean.

One man in New York five years ago dreamed of an airboat with wings to fly from the new shores to the old countries, and now we have seen the fulfillment of a dream in the accomplished fact.

All honor to American pluck.

All praise to American capital.

All confidence in American workmanship.

All credit and thanks to the persevering Americans.

What is it that we cannot do when we set ourselves to work at it faithfully? It is almost a settled fact that America refuses to believe that there is anything that she cannot do if it ought to be done.

It was so:

She fought through to success the Revolutionary War! She entered the recent World War, alongside of the Allies, because she saw her duty to do so.

When we know we are right, we dare to undertake to surpass all records!

Which way shall our next step be?

Difficulties only challenge us to larger things!

(Signed)

John Wanamaker
May 20, 1919.

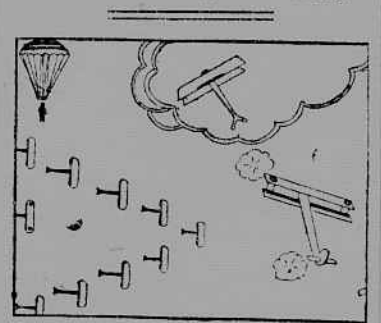

Ballad concert

Publications of Jerome Remick & Co. in the Auditorium at 2:30 Monday. Artists—

Eva Lynn, Soprano; Viola Robertson, Mezzo-Soprano; Worthie Faulkner, Tenor; Eddie Miller, Tenor; Billy Cripps, Tenor; Joe Martel, Baritone; Ashley Nagle, Baritone; Francis J. Tyler, Bass; Miss Charlotte Blake, Accompanist; Mr. Harold Norman, Accompanist.

Part I.—Ballad Concert.
Part II.—Community Singing.

Chateau Thierry
At 3:30, motion pictures and lecture by Col. Edward J. Parker, Salvation Army.
First Gallery, New Building.

No—this has nothing to do with the flight to the Azores

It is a rough sketch of the batiked design on one of the new

Airplane silks

just brought out by Wanamaker's. The particular design of which the above sketch shows part is the work of the most accomplished artist in America in batik work. It is reproduced in a variety of color-effects on a wonderful quality of crepe de chine. A magnificent lining for a motor wrap or cape.

There are other designs on the Ace of Satins—a white fibre satin, which makes up so beautifully into sport skirts. For example —a flock of six airplanes in two shades of gray and two shades of turquoise blue; a great spider web embroidered in various color silks with airplane caught in its meshes; a family of swallows; the Chinese artist's idea of flying as exemplified in Chinese blue embroidery showing on plate with flying centerpiece.

Airplane silks, $10, $12, $15 yard.
Main floor, Old Building.

Mandarin suits from Japan

Two-piece strictly feminine suits for breakfast and early morning wear include a straight skirt and mandarin coat. In pink, blue or white cotton crepe with typical hand-embroidered Japanese flowers.

More modern looking are the 20th century pajama suits for women. These have wide, loose trousers with separate mandarin coat. Pale pink, blue or white cotton crepe fastened with frogs. $3.75.

Foreign Shop, Third floor, Old Building.

Unique bedspreads

CANDLEWICK—a specialization of ours—$1 x 99 inches in uncommon designs made expressly for us and not to be found in any other spread obtainable in New York.

So popular are they that we have to bring in fifty where we used to bring in one. And calls for them come from all parts of the country.

A new lot just in. $11 each.

Fourth Gallery, New Building.

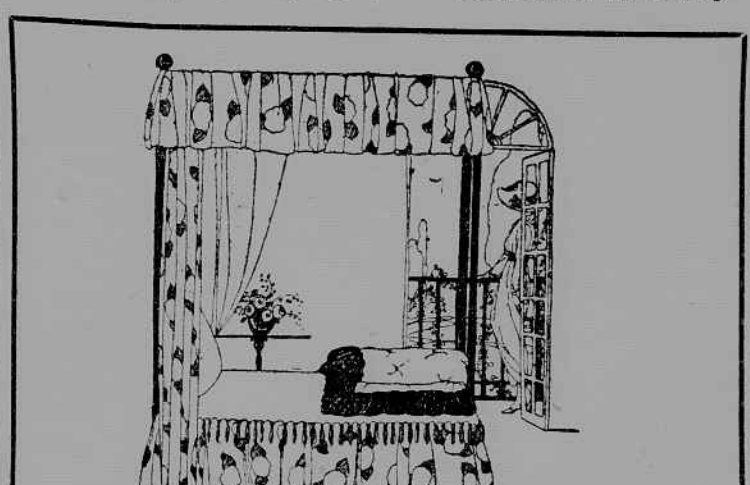

Fluffy black dance frocks

For Miss 14 to 20

Black lace and net! Tres jolie! Silhouettes of the frocks are charming. One illustrated seems to be just one ruffle after another of black lace but the ruffles are mounted on oval tunics of net.

This dress is $42.50

A frock at $39.75 has ruffled skirt of black lace, new short, wide sleeves, and bodice high at neck in back, although transparent; another at $29.75 is of dotted black net. Very effective!
Second floor, Old Building.

All Aboard for SLEEP WELL Nights

SLEEP WELL bedding will come straight from the Wanamaker Sleep Factory to you, made to your personal order

Who wants to spend tonight in good restful sleep? And the next night? And the next?

Fling wide your windows. Have proper bed coverings. Be sure to have a GOOD mattress. An odorless elastic hair mattress, self ventilating, thoroughly sanitary. A mattress such as you are sure of getting in the Wanamaker Sleep Factory.

This Wanamaker Sleep Factory as we have told you is only a few yards away from the Wanamaker Store. It is flooded with daylight. Our own expert people make Wanamaker sleep mattresses. Each mattress is made especially to order. We do not have any stock on hand.

Any one can have any kind of a mattress to please himself or herself. A thin person requires one kind of a mattress. A heavy person needs quite a different kind. An average person requires an average mattress.

The two-in-one mattress laced with tapes can be tightened on one side and loosened on the other for two people of different weight. Made of super black South American hair, with lambs' wool top, bottom and sides, $105.

Samples of hair and coverings for mattresses, and feathers and coverings for pillows, will be found in the Bedding Store on the Sixth Gallery of the Wanamaker New Building.

Sleep well bedding will be made expressly to order within twenty-four hours if necessary.

The Wanamaker Sleep Factory is equipped to make mattresses for hotels, clubs, steamships, institutions, private homes.

Some Prices

50-pound hair mattresses made of highest grade long tail hair from South American horses, selected especially because of its length, curled so that each little spiral gives elasticity and comfort. Made with a firm imperial edge. Covered with athen striped ticking. Single-bed size, $59.50; ¾-bed size, $76.50; double-bed size, $85.

40-pound hair mattresses at $42. Mattresses made of this hair were ordered in very large quantities by the government. Made of pure South American hair cut from horses' manes. Always soft and comfortable. Single-bed size, $26.25; ¾-bed size, $36.75; double-bed size, $42.

Best mixed hair mattresses made of part long, part short hair combining softness with great elasticity and durability. Double-bed size, $42; ¾-bed size, $36.75; single-bed size, $26.25.

Box springs with South American horse hair tufted tops, $41.75. Other box springs, $25.50 to $38.50.

Other Wanamaker custom-made hair mattresses, single-bed size, $17.50 to $22.25; double-bed size, $28 to $100.

Sixth Gallery, New Building.

All a man needs to do is come to the Arcade Floor and pick out the clothes that please his eye and suit his pocketbook.

We serve no one group of men.

Our knowledge of merchandise has been used for the benefit of all—for the man who wants a suit at $30—for the man who wants one at $60—for the man who wants a straw hat at $2—for the man who prefers one that costs $25.

When a man buys clothes here he gets the benefit of our study and observation of men's fashions the world over.

He gets the benefit of our great two-store buying power.

He gets the guarantee of a house whose tremendous business was founded on a men's clothing store opened 58 years ago.

Few Suits Alike

Many models. Many patterns. Many weaves. But—few suits alike. Individuality in suits ready to wear—a rare thing. $30 to $60.

English Topcoats

REDLEAF, from London. By long odds the finest topcoats under the sun. In good fabrics and colorings that whisper "We are different." Ready to put on, $45 to $55.

What Shirt?

Silk, madras, mercerized cottons, silk and cotton, or flannel? For business, evening, or golf? Any good sort of shirt you want, built on the Wanamaker generous measurements, $1.65 to $15. To measure, $4 to $20.

A $50 Raincoat

And worth it—Just as a thoroughbred horse may be worth $50,000; while a hack of similar shape would only bring $50.

ESEYGOING overwear coat, they call it in London. Where it comes from. Showerproof. A bit of a military air, $50.

Many Shoes

Narrow toes, medium toes, broad toes in all good leathers. Shoes for men that walk much. Shoes for men that don't. Calfskin and cordovan. $6 to $14. And ANATOMIK shoes for feet that seem to be weakening under the strain.

Every Man Knows

he's going to get a new straw hat. But a great many seem to think they cannot choose satisfactorily unless it is a hot day and there is a crowd in the Men's Hat Shop. Other men know that the best time to make selection is in the early forenoon. $2 to $25.

Underwear. Socks.

Room-robots. Pajamas.

Very fine neckties.

British golf suits.

Motor laprobes.

Sporting goods.

(All on one floor—the street floor—) NEW BUILDING.